Serkadu, Vellore, Tamilnadu, India

TUNE SKILL DEVELOPMENT & LIFE SCIENCES RESEARCH INSTITUTE

The Thiruvalluvar University, Vellore and NIM CARE, Chennai signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) establishing the TUNE SKILL DEVELOPMENT AND LIFE SCIENCES RESEARCH INSTITUTE (TUNE SDLSR INSTITUTE), aimed to provide a platform for University Faculty, Students of Thiruvalluvar University and its Affiliated colleges.

TUNE: A Symbiotic Collaboration: TUNE SDLSR Institute is established to 'fine tune' the student lives.

The abbreviation of the TUNE SDLSR Institute is expanded as TU for Thiruvalluvar University, NE for NIM CARE and SDLSR for Skill Development And Life Sciences Research Institute. This collaboration is formed with a view to breaking down the barriers between universities, industry, commerce, government and the public services. Specific driving factors include the growth of the knowledge economy and attempts to strengthen the economic and social contribution of research; a shift towards more applied research in collaboration with other knowledge creators and users; greater concentration of research activity and partnership in the use of plant, equipment and expertise; the growth of the directed mode of funding based on priority areas and problem oriented project funding; and the shift towards a mass higher education system and lifelong learning.
